

JOHN BROSIOUS, MD

Born and raised in Allentown, Pennsylvania, John Brosious received his undergraduate degree from the University of Notre Dame, before receiving his MD from Indiana University School of Medicine. He completed his plastic surgery training at the University of Nevada in Las Vegas (UNLV).

His practice encompasses the entire spectrum of plastic surgery, both reconstructive and cosmetic. His reconstructive focus has been on burns, cancer reconstruction, microsurgery, transgender surgery, and trauma reconstruction.

He is currently an Assistant Professor of Plastic Surgery at the UNLV School of Medicine, and the Associate Program Director of the UNLV Plastic Surgery Residency Program.

Dr. Brosious is the oldest of four brothers. In his free time, he enjoys fitness, listening to hip hop music, and tattoos.